It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

PREFACE

THE object of the writer in compiling the within pages, is to give to the present and future generations some knowledge of their ancestry; and to put on record certain facts and events connected with their history, and as far as possible to record the names of the descendants of Charles Dixon down to the current year. To obtain the names of all, was found to be quite impracticable. The writer has personally visited numerous families, written scores and scores of letters, traveled hundreds of miles, and dilligently sought to obtain the information embodied in these pages; and while sincerely grateful for the measure of success attained, he deeply regrets that further greatly desired information respecting many of the families proved beyond his reach. For the errors and imperfections the work contains, he feels he may reasonably claim forbearance. The work has no claim or merit in a literary sense, the object sought being a simple, brief statement of facts and circumstances of little interest to any excepting the descendants of the aforesaid Charles Dixon. It was at first intended to bring the record down to the close of 1888, at which date some portion of the material had been collected. Circumstances, however, delayed the collection of the required information until a more recent period. Consequently it is probable many interesting events may have ocured in connection with those families from whom he had obtained his information at the period first named, which are not recorded herein. To all who have aided him in his search for information, (who are too numerous to be recounted by name) his sincerest thanks are respectfully tendered. To the author of the History of the Black Family, who kindly gave him permission to use such portion of his account of the family of Martin G. and Fanny Smith Black as he might deem advisable, and which he has availed himself of to a certain extent, his acknowledgements are herewith tendered. In the hope that his effort to compile a family history extending over so many years and reaching the seventh generation and numbering nearly three thousand persons, may be duly appreciated and its many imperfections and errors regarded with much leniency, the compiler herewith dedicates his effort to the descendants of Charles and Susanna Dixon.

August, 1891.

N. B. The reader will observe that the figures prefixed to many of the names herein mentioned, are introduced for the purpose of indicating the Generation to which such persons belong, and their relationship to Charles and Susannah Dixon, who are accounted the first generation. Thus the figure 2 denotes the name is that of one of their children; the figure 3, one of their grandchildren; the figure 4, one of their great grandchildren, and so on.

HISTORY OF CHARLES DIXON, 1st.

CHAPTER I.

CHARLES DIXON came from Yorkshire, England, to Nova Scotia in the year 1772, and settled at Sackville, N. B. A paper written by himself, and dated Sept. 21st, 1773, giving some particulars of his life and history previous to that date, is herein transcribed, as follows :

I, Charles Dixon, was born March 8, old style, in the year 1730, at Kirleavington, near Yarm, in the East Riding of Yorkshire in Old England. I was brought up to the Bricklayer's trade with my Father until I was about nineteen years of age, and followed that calling till the 29th year of my age. I then engaged in a paper manufactory at Hutton Rudby, and followed that business for the space of about twelve years with success. At the age of thirty-one I married Susanna Coates, by whom I have had one son and four daughters. I was brought up a Protestant, or a member of the Church of England, and endeavored to demean myself as one on his Christian race; to live soberly, righteously and Godly in this present evil world, thinking, or at least had no doubt but I should obtain heaven at last. But being at one time at Robinhood's Bay, near Whitby, I went to hear Thomas Secomb, a Methodist preacher, so called by way of derision. But his preaching was such as I never before heard, for his word was with power, it made me cry out in the bitterness of my soul, what must I do to be saved?

All my pretence of being a member of the church fell to the ground, I was condemned by her articles and homilies. I had broken my baptismal covenant, and was in fact a baptized heathen with a Christian name. For the space of about twelve months I went mourning all my days under a sense of guilt, and bowed down with the Spirit of bondage, but seeking for and asking of God, that Spirit wherewith He made His children free; that I might rejoice with his chosen, and give thanks with his inheritance. At length on Wednesday, September the 21st, 1768, while seeking and striving upon my knees, the Lord proclaimed his name merciful and gracious to forgive my iniquities, healed all my diseases, and set my soul at liberty. I was then a member of the Methodist Society at Hutton Rudby, and continued so till the year 1772, being the 42nd year of my age. Being wearied with public business, and I saw the troubles that were befalling my native country, oppressions of every kind abounded, and it was very difficult to earn bread, and keep a conscience void of offence, and though I was involved in business without the least appearance of being freed therefrom, until Providence so ordered it. The Honorable Lieutenant-Governor Franklin of the Province of Nova Scotia, at this time made some proposals for settlers; an acquaintance of mine, being his agent, with whom I had some intercourse. And when the advertisements came out I frequently recommended them to others, not seeing any way to embrace them myself, until about two months before I embarked at Liverpool. A gentleman I had never before seen called at my house and asked me some questions about my business, and told me that he was informed that I was inclined to embrace Governor Franklin's proposals, and if so he would undertake my business and purchase my stock and interest in Hutton Mills, that I might not be retarded. I was brought to think of it more seriously and gave him for answer that I would weigh it more narrowly, and give him a deliberate answer in a little time. After many thoughts, and consultations with my wife and friends, I came to a resolution to leave all my friends and interests I was invested with, and go to Nova Scotia. The time arrived that we were to be at Liverpool, and we reached there the 27th February, from whence we sailed on the 16th day of March, 1772, on board the Duke of York, with sixty-two souls, men, women and children, bound for Nova Scotia as settlers. My family consisted of myself, my wife and four children, viz: Mary, Charles, Susanna, and Elizabeth.

We had a rough passage, none of us having been at sea before; much sea sickness prevailed. After six weeks and four days, we arrived at Halifax, the capital of the Province, and were received with much joy by the gentlemen in general, but were much discouraged by others, and the account we heard of Cumberland (the place of our destination) was enough to make the stoutest heart give way. I had, however, an eye to that Providence that called and made things plain before me hitherto, and frequently told my wife all things would work together for good; not to be cast down, for I was sure we should meet with good success at our journey's end, and I endeavored to persuade others that He who had inclined us to come hither would surely not leave us, if we were not wanting to ourselves. Through many discouragements we arrived and landed at Fort Cumberland on the 21st day of May, and went into the Barracks with my family until we could find a resting place. At first glance things wore a very gloomy aspect. There were few of the inhabitants but wanted to sell their lands and go hence. I thought there must be some cause for this universal discontent. The spring was very late. I began to walk about the country, and went over to Sackville. After a few days investigation, finding the cause of discontent to be largely due to indolence and lack of knowledge, I purchased a tract of land at Sackville of Daniel Hawkins, containing 2500 acres, for the sum of £260. To which I removed my family on the 8th of June. Most of the rest of the settlers bought and settled elsewhere.

One thing in the inhabitants of Sackville at that time was very commendable; the not forsaking, but assembling together to worship, though unhappily divided into parties and ready to say to each other "I am holier than thou." And now let us admire that Providence which has preserved and brought us through many dangers from our Father's house and given us a lot in a strange land and an earthly inheritance that we never deserved or expected. Oh! that it may excite us to gratitude and thanksgiving while we dwell in a house of clay, and when this earthly tabernacle shall be dissolved may we receive an inheritance incorruptible, undefiled, that will never fade away; where the wicked will cease from troubling, and where our souls shall forever rest.

N. B.—This, my son Charles, is written for thy and thy little sisters' instruction, that thou be not high-minded, but remember the rock from whence thou wast hewn, and in the future time when I and thy mother shall be called home, and rest in the silent grave, you may remember, that for your sakes we crossed the ocean. See that you outstrip us in purity of heart and holiness of life, and always let your words be the picture of your hearts. Study to adorn the doctrine and Gospel of God your Savior, and acquaint yourselves with God and be at peace. At peace with yourselves and with all men, and may the God of peace be with you evermore. Amen.

The following is also transcribed from a record made by the same person in his own hand-writing upon the flyleaf of his family bible: Sackville, N. B., 21st May, 1810. This day, 38 years ago, we landed at Fort Cumberland from Hutton Rudby, in Cleveland, Yorkshire, myself, my wife, Mary, Charles, Susanna and Elizabeth, six in all, and at this day the family has multiplied to ninety-four, all alive, save infants, and Ruth, my daughter, who departed 29th March last, much regretted by all who knew her, aged 37 years and three months, but our loss is her gain. She died as she lived, a Christian. Thus has the mercy and goodness of God followed us hitherto. (Signed,) CHARLES DIXON.

May 21st, 1815. This day, forty-three years ago, we landed at Fort Cumberland, with four children, viz: Mary, Charles, Susanna, and Elizabeth. Four more are added, viz: Ruth, Martha, Edward and William, all alive save a favorite, Ruth, and I suppose we are multiplied to not less, at this day than one hundred and thirty. But why are we thus multiplied and spared so long? Because God's mercy is over all his works. (Signed,) CHARLES DIXON. Aged 85.

The foregoing paper and records contain all that Mr. Dixon wrote respecting his own, or his family history. While the writer deems himself fortunate in the possession of these papers, he deeply regrets that Mr. Dixon did not leave on record some farther information respecting his parents, his brothers and sisters, and their families. He had a brother Edward, with whom he kept up a correspondence after coming to America, who also had a family. He for some time previous to his decease, was so afflicted with blindness, that he was obliged to employ some one to write his letters to his brother in America. There was also a sister, who was married to a Mr. Scotson, one of whose daughters married Abraham Bass, who was a tailor and draper of London, and who at Mr. Dixon's suggestion came to Sackville about the year 1810, and built a brick house on the site now occupied by the Chignecto Hall, where he kept a public house or hotel until his death. There was also John Dixon, an excise officer at Hutton Rudby, with whom Charles had business relations, while he was engaged in the manufacture of paper, who was probably a relative. There was also a Dixon family near the same locality, who at a later period gave to the Methodist church a distinguished minister, in the person of the Rev. James Dixon, D. D., who it is well known, in advanced age became totally blind. This latter circumstance coupled with the fact that a similar affliction existed in the case of Edward Dixon, before mentioned, and also with the fact that two of Charles Dixon's sons were in advanced age similarly afflicted, as will hereafter appear, tends to give color to the probability that the families had been nearly related in the not very remote past.

Charles Dixon very soon became an active and prominent citizen of the community in which he had fixed his new home. He doubtless possessed some traits of character to be esteemed and admired. He was prompt in decision, firm of purpose, industrious, intelligent and conscientious in the discharge of his duties, and what his hand found to do, he did with his might. He possessed an education quite in advance of many of his associates and neighbors, and his twelve years' training in conducting the business of the paper mill had given him an aptitude for business, which would materially aid in qualifying him for efficiently discharging the duties of the positions he was so soon called upon to fill. He was called upon almost immediately to act as administrator of several Estates, among which was that of George Dobson, of Point De Bute, and one of Thomas Copple, of Petticodiac. He was also appointed a Justice of the peace in 1775, and Judge of the common pleas in 1778. As a Justice of the peace he had a large portion of the business of the Parish to perform for a lengthy period. He was also authorized to solemnize matrimony, and performed that duty for many of the early inhabitants.

Mr. Dixon was among the first of the English immigrants to what was then called Cumberland, Nova Scotia, (which included not only the present County of Cumberland, but also a large portion of the Province of New Brunswick, notably the counties of Westmoreland and Albert) who settled at Sackville, and believing that he had done wisely himself, he encouraged others of his Yorkshire acquaintance to follow his example; and when they arrived, aided them by his counsel, and in some instances with pecuniary assistance to enable them to make a start. What amount of funds Mr. Dixon brought from England is unknown, but beside the amount he paid for his land, he expended nearly as much in the purchase of stock of various kinds. He bought of Daniel Hawkins all his stock, consisting of horses, oxen, cows, young cattle and sheep. Of the latter he had more than a sufficiency, for he began immediately to lend them to his newly arrived acquaintances, to be returned, with their double in three years. As he still had funds to lend to his fellow immigrants, it is probable he was possessed of about a thousand pounds when he left England.

It would be interesting to know the names of the passengers with Charles Dixon, and his family, in the ship Duke of York. We are informed there were seventeen families, only one of which, so far as known, settled in Sackville beside Mr. Dixon. Thomas Anderson, with his wife Mary, who were married just previous to their departure from England, and who, after living for a year or so with Mr. Dixon, bought a property on Coles' Island, of a Mr. Alvason, where they settled and became the founders of the extensive and respectable family of that name, many of whom are still residents of Sackville. William Freeze, and wife, and his wife's brother, George Bulmer, (who was a lad of twelve years) were also of the number of the same ship's company. Mr. Freeze first located at or near Amhurst, N. S., but finally settled at Sussex, Kings county, N. B., and became the founder of a numerous respected and influential family. George Bulmer, after completing his term of service with his brother-in-law Freeze, came to Sackville, purchased a property adjoining Mr. Dixon, and married into his family as will hereafter be seen.

For some years after Mr. Dixon came to Sackville he was engaged in a small way in merchandise, purchasing his goods and supplies, and marketing the surplus products of his farm at Halifax. This caused him to make occasional journeys to that city, going frequently by the way of Parrsboro and Windsor. On one occasion he met some old acquaintances in the persons of William and Jane Humphrey, who were then settled at Falmouth, N. S. Many years subsequently, after the death of Mr. Humphrey in 1795, Mr. Dixon advised Mrs. Humphrey to remove with her family of three sons and two daughters to Sackville, offering her a lot of his land situated on the main road through the village. Mrs. Humphrey accepted the offer promptly. A house was erected upon the lot, and in due time was occupied by herself and family. She was evidently a capable woman. She commenced very soon to keep a public house, so called, and her house was for many years a kind of headquarters where much of the semi-public or parish business was transacted. Mr. Dixon continued to hold his Justices courts there until within a brief period of his death. The place is now known as the farm of the late Christopher Humphrey.

Long previous to the removal of Mrs. Humphrey to Sackville, Mr. Dixon had encouraged John Richardson and his wife, whose maiden name was Mary Flintoff, and who was a sister of Mrs. Humphrey, to come to America, and who came out in the year 1774, and were then comfortably settled beside Mr. Dixon. One of Mr. Richardson's family was born on the ocean voyage, and was named Joseph Providence. The first name for the captain of the ship, and the second for the ship. John and Mary Richardson, above named, are the founders of the various families of that name in and around Sackville.

Very soon after the arrival of Mr. Dixon and the other English families who preceded or immediately followed him, the Revolutionary War broke out. As a large proportion of the inhabitants of Sackville, at that period, were natives of Massachusetts, and the adjoining Colonies, and had only been absent from their native country a few years, it is not surprising that some of them should be inclined to sympathise with the Revolutionists, and actively espouse their cause; and aided and encouraged by a force from Calais they for a time besieged Fort Cumberland. That enterprise however was soon abandoned, and they found more congenial employment in raiding the homes of the loyal and peaceable inhabitants, plundering them of such articles as they were in need of, and destroying or carrying away any guns or ammunition they might find. Mr. Dixon's home did not escape their unwelcome notice. His house was robbed of many valuable articles, some of which he kept for sale. For a considerable period the loyal inhabitants, notably the English settlers, were subjected to a state of anxiety, and lived in dread of a repetition of such unwelcome visits. On one occasion when some of these people were approaching the house, Mrs. Dixon hastily gathered up her silverware and other valuables and deposited them in a barrel of pig feed, where they quite escaped the notice of the visitors. On a later occasion, when somewhat similar troublous times existed, Mr. Dixon, with the aid of his negro servant Cleaveland, hid his money and other valuables in the earth; binding his servant by a solemn oath never to divulge to any one the place of concealment. These incidents may serve to remind us of some of the perils and difficulties our ancestors were compelled to encounter very soon after their arrival in the country.

At the close of the revolutionary war, the population of Nova Scotia was largely increased by the arrival of the Loyalists, many of whom settled at St. John and in that vicinity, and some came to Sackville, and others to Amherst and the adjacent localities. There was another class of persons who preceded the Loyalists, who came from the New England states, and some of whom settled at Sackville, who were termed refugees. These, it is understood, were not obliged to leave their native land because of their loyalty to the Crown and government of England. It can be truly said however, that the descendants of some of this class are now to be found among the most industrious and prosperous of our citizens.

Very soon after the close of the war, the Province of Nova Scotia was divided, and what is now known as the Province of New Brunswick was given a separate government.

An extract from the journals of the first session of the Legislature held at Parr Town, (now St. John) in January 1786, is here inserted and is as follows: "The consideration of the Sheriff's return for Westmoreland, being referred to a committee, the chairman reports, that the French votes are illegal, and that Charles Dixon was entitled to take his seat." And on February 7th, Charles Dixon appeared in the House, "And it was ordered that Mr. Hubbard and Mr. Paine, attend to see him qualified before the Commissioner for that purpose, who reported they had attended to that duty, and that Charles Dixon was duly qualified, and thereupon ordered that he take his seat."

Amos Botsford was the only other representative for the County until 1793, when four members were allowed to Westmoreland, and Amos Botsford, Thomas Chandler, William Black and Thomas Dickson were elected. Whether Mr. Dixon was a candidate for re-election in 1793 or otherwise the writer is not informed, nor does he know who beside Mr. Botsford and Mr. Dixon were the candidates at the first election. It is probable some other candidate had received more votes than he, including French, which when found to be illegal were stricken off, and Mr. Dixon became entitled to the seat. The revenue of the Province the first year was about £2500, out of which a grant was made to open a road to Westmoreland. The necessity for such grant was doubtless apparent by the fact that it required two weeks to inform Mr. Dixon of his right to the seat, and to enable him to appear at Parr Town.

Shortly after Mr. Dixon ceased to be a member of the Legislature he was appointed Collector of Customs and acted in that capacity some years. In the year 1788, he built a brick house, all the lumber for the floors and finishing of which was brought by water conveyance from the state of Maine. There was abundance of timber near at hand certainly, but the absence of mills for its manufacture no doubt necessitated that course. There is a building still standing owned by Mr. John E. Bowser, the boards of a portion of which also came from Maine at about the same time. A few lines of explanation in reference to the discontent which Mr. Dixon speaks of as being universal, may here be in order. After the expulsion of the French from Nova Scotia in 1755, efforts were made by the English authorities to induce persons living in the New England Colonies to come and occupy these vacant lands, and in 1758 and subsequently Governor Lawrence held out strong inducements which were to a certain extent successful. A Baptist church came en masse in the year 1763 and located at Sackville, other persons followed, and in the year 1765 the first grant of lands in Sackville was issued by the Government of Nova Scotia to these people, some of whom had served in the war against the French and were thus in part remunerated for such service. The whole parish of Sackville was thus granted and the holders of the said lands were the people to whom Mr. Dixon refers as being anxious to sell their lands and leave the country. The advent of the English immigrants who responded to Governor Franklin's proposals, and settled at Sackville, gave some of these people an opportunity to sell out and leave. At a later period when the Loyalists came others of them found opportunity to sell out to them, and others returned to their native country leaving their lands unsold.

Of the long list of persons whose names were contained in the original grants of Sackville, those who remained permanently are represented by the names of Ayr, Cole, Estabrooks, Kilham, Read, Tingley, Smith, Seaman and Ward.

The names of the English immigrants who settled at Sackville are Anderson, Atkinson, Bowser, Bulmer, Cornforth, Dixon, Fawcett, Harper, Patterson, Richardson and Wry. Most of whom were Methodists in their religious views. Those who settled at Point De Bute bore the names of Dobson, Chapman, Carter, Lowerison, Siddall, Trueman, Oulton, Trenholm, and others, many of whom were also Methodists, and others strongly attached to the Church of England.

Reference to Mr. Dixon's ledger supplies us with facts which though in harmony with the wants of society at that age, would be sadly at variance with present conditions. One or two of these may not be uninteresting. One entry shows that he hired a servant girl for the sum of nine pounds a year. And that one of the articles she required in payment for her services was a gallon of rum. Another shows that he purchased several negro slaves at Halifax, one of whom he sold to his friend, the Honorable Amos Botsford, at the same price he paid; another to his friend, Major Wilson, on similar terms, and one named Cleveland he retained for himself, for whom he paid the sum of sixty pounds, and to whom he subsequently gave his liberty, and thenceforth paid regular wages. This faithful old servant the writer can well recollect. He lived with Charles Dixon, Junior, after the death of his old master, and when dying, said he wished to be buried somewhere near his old master.

Mr. Dixon's house was a home for the early Methodist preachers, to whom he always gave a warm and hearty welcome. He was also one of the active members who erected the first Methodist church in Sackville, within whose walls he continued to worship until the infirmities of old age compelled his absence.

He, and his neighbor, William Cornforth, whose land adjoined, jointly set apart about four acres of land for a Methodist parsonage. A circumstance which had its influence in making Sackville the head of a circuit at that time. Previous to his death a brick house was erected on the lot so set apart, in the erection of which he also took a lively interest, and one of the latest of his efforts at writing contained instructions to his executors to sell certain articles of his personal property and apply the proceeds to assist in furnishing the parsonage.

It is proper that a few lines should be given to a notice of Mrs. Dixon, whose maiden name was Susanna Coates. But little is known with reference to her family. She was however a connection of an eminent thread manufacturing firm of that name in Manchester, and one of her younger sisters named Isabella, came to Nova Scotia about the same time she did, as the wife of John Trenholm. They settled at Point De Bute, and lived to advanced age, and were the progenitors of the numerous families of that name now living in Westmoreland and Cumberland and adjacent counties. The writer is of the opinion that the Coates family or families who came to Nova Scotia at about the same time Mr. Dixon came, and settled at Amherst and in King's county, were also relatives of Susanna and Isabel Coates. Mr. Dixon had quite extensive business relations with a William Coates for a number of years after he came to Sackville, and for whom he probably named his youngest son. Mrs. Dixon was blessed with a strong and vigorous constitution, and also in a marked degree possessed the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit. She cheerfully and patiently endured the discomforts and privations incident to pioneer life, while diligently discharging her duties as wife and mother. She was somewhat low in stature, though capable of an unusual amount of physical endurance. She was some nine years younger than her husband, but survived him as many years.

Mr. Dixon was a man of medium height, strongly built, and well proportioned, possessing an excellent constitution, capable of great physical exertion, and lived to ripe age. His death occurred August 21st, 1817. Mrs. Dixon died June 13th, 1826. Each of them in the 88th year of their age. Near the site of the unpretentious church building which they and their co-laborers erected, and within whose walls they worshiped, their bodies lie buried; as do also many of the English immigrants before named, who were actively instrumental in founding Methodism in Sackville. As in life they lived and labored to promote a common object, in death they are not divided.

The family record of Charles Dixon as kept by himself here follows:

Charles Dixon and Susannah Coates were married June 24th, 1763.

Mary Dixon, born Friday, July 5, 1764.

Charles Dixon, born Friday, January 10, 1766.

Susannah Dixon, born Friday, July 24, 1767.

Elizabeth Dixon, born Sunday, August 25, 1770.

Ruth Dixon, born Wednesday, September 16, 1772.

Martha Dixon, born Thursday, June 3, 1774.

Edward Dixon, born Friday, September 20, 1776.

William Coates Dixon, born Tuesday, February 23, 1779.

It will now be in order to trace out as far as practicable the genealogy of each of the above named persons, in their proper order. A chapter it will be observed is assigned to each.

GENEALOGY OF MARY DIXON AND HER HUSBAND WILLIAM CHAPMAN.

CHAPTER II.

<sup>2</sup> MARY DIXON, the eldest daughter of Charles and Susanna Dixon, married William Chapman, eldest son of William Chapman the 1st, who came to Nova Scotia in 1775 and settled at Point de Bute, and whose descendants are probably more numerous than any of the English immigrants of that period, and are scattered far and wide, although a host of the name still remains in the counties of Cumberland and Westmoreland.

William Chapman who married Mary Dixon in the year 1780, was a mechanic, who worked at the carpenter trade during the largest portion of his life. He did the joiner work of the brick house built by his father-in-law, Mr. Dixon, before mentioned. He settled at Fort Lawrence so called, where he had a valuable farm. The children of William Chapman and his wife, Mary Dixon, were:

William, born June 13, 1782. John, born Sept. 8, 1793.

Susanna, born March 19, 1784. Richard, born Sept. 8, 1795.

Elizabeth, born Feb'y 9, 1786. Jennie, born April 8, 1799.

Jane, born December 3, 1787. Sidney Smith, b'rn Aug. 13, 1801

Charles, born Sept. 28, 1789. Mary, born June 26, 1804.

Henry, born Sept. 2, 1791. Horatio Nelson, born — 1807.

<sup>2</sup> Mary Dixon Chapman departed this life on the 22nd of December, 1837, in the 74th year of her age. Mr. Chapman survived his partner several years and died in March 1844, aged 87 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman were honest, peaceable and industrious citizens, attendants upon the services of the Methodist church, within whose pale they found their spiritual home. Their remains rest in the Point de Bute Methodist church yard, which was a portion of the estate of the first Mr. Chapman, who gave it for a site for a Methodist church and burial place.

<sup>3</sup> William Chapman, eldest son of William and Mary Dixon Chapman, about the year 1804 married Miss Harriet Bent. He also was a mechanic, as were very many of the Chapmans. He worked at ship carpenter work some considerable portion of his early life, and moved about to various places, residing at Sackville for a time and afterwards at Dorchester Island, from whence he went to Shepody so called, and finally settled at Salmon River, where he remained until his death. Their children were named Melvina, Eliza, Mary Ann, Clementina, John and Harriet. One or two others died in childhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman died at Salmon River about the year 1870.

<sup>4</sup> Melvina, the eldest daughter married a Mr. Martin, and they had some children, one of whom was Capt. Owen Martin, who died recently in Albert. Mrs. Martin removed to Boston, U. S., and if now living would be some 85 years of age.

<sup>3</sup> John Chapman, fourth son of William and Mary Dixon Chapman, married Miss Jane Jonah in the year 1817. They settled at Chapman Settlement, as stated on a former page, and very largely assisted in redeeming from the wilderness the now flourishing settlement of that name. What hardships and privations those pioneer settlers endured, without roads for many years, except blazed pathways through the wilderness which were impassable except on foot or on horseback, and far distant from any other settlement, can now be only faintly appreciated or understood. The two brothers, Henry and John Chapman, and their brother-in-law John Greeno, bravely battled with and overcame all obstacles confronting them in their persistent attempt to carve out for themselves productive farms and comfortable homes. The success which crowned their efforts is now seen in the flourishing village before mentioned, principally occupied by their descendants. The children of John and his wife Jane Jonah Chapman, were named William, George, Ann, John, Ruth, Henry, Silas, James, Edmund, Elizabeth, Howard, Hiram, Wesley and Sylvanus; one other died in childhood. # GENEALOGY OF CHARLES DIXON, SECOND.

CHAPTER III.

<sup>2</sup> CHARLES DIXON, eldest son of Charles and Susanna Coates Dixon, was six years old when he left England and came with his parents to Nova Scotia. He was a healthy, vigorous youth, capable of any amount of physical endurance. At the age of sixteen, during the closing years of the revolutionary war, he, with other youths of Sackville and vicinity, was taken to Fort Cumberland to perform garrison duty, and acquitted themselves creditably.

In the year 1788 he married Miss Rhoda Emmerson, a daughter of one of the original grantees of Sackville. At the same hour of the same day and in the same house, Miss Martha Grace was married to Ebenezer Cole. In their family were included the late Michael Grace Cole, Rufus Cole, Esq., and Capt. Martin Cole, all of whom were well known residents of Sackville.

<sup>2</sup> Mr. Dixon settled on a portion of the land purchased by his father of Daniel Hawkins and rapidly redeemed the same from the wilderness and turned it into fruitful fields. The children of Charles and Rhoda Emmerson Dixon were:

William, born August 7, 1789.

Charles, born March 22, 1791. (Died in infancy.)

Charles, born June 8, 1793.

Hannah, born September 6, 1795.

Benjamin, born December 18, 1797.

Mrs. Rhoda E. Dixon died July 27, 1799, in the thirtieth year of her age. Mr. Dixon soon after married Miss Elizabeth Humphrey, eldest daughter of Mrs. William Humphrey, of whom mention has been previously made. This marriage occurring so soon after the death of his first wife so shocked the sense of propriety of Mr. Dixon's Methodist associates (for he was a member of the Methodist Society) as to cause for a time some estrangement. His parents, however, were the more inclined to overlook the offence, inasmuch as the bride being a Yorkshire Lass the alliance was regarded by them with more favor than the former one. Doubtless they believed as most Yorkshire people do to the present day, that there is no one quite the equal of a good Yorkshireman.

John, born August 9, 1800. Elizabeth, born January 1, 1803.

Sidney, born ~~Sept. 16~~, 1805. Leonard, born July 12, 1808.

Jane, born Oct. 13, 1810. Ruth, born August 4, 1813.

Christopher Flintoff, May 6, Edward, born August 17, 1818.

1816.

Mary, born July 13, 1823.

Alfred, born January 31, Martha, born June 27, 1825.

<sup>2</sup> Mr. Dixon turned his attention occasionally to various enterprises quite outside of his farming operations. He also had a strong desire to see some other portions of America. And about the year 1803, he with a young man, a neighbor, named Timothy Richardson, visited the United States, through which they journeyed, much of the time on foot, until they reached Ohio, and at or near the place now called Cincinnati they had a boat constructed in which they pursued their journey to New Orleans. From thence they took passage by sea to New York, where in due time they arrived. Mr. Dixon, however, fell ill with fever and ague which occasioned increased expenses and delay. Fortunately his brother-in-law, George Bulmer, was in the city, and finding them out rendered them such pecuniary aid as they required to enable them to pursue their journey homeward. They then took passage for home with one Capt. Burnham, and at Mount Desert they were detained by the severity of the weather for a considerable time, but at length reached home in safety. Whether Mr. Dixon or his companion then had thoughts of finding a home in the United States, is not known. Soon after his return home he made preparations for brewing ale, and erected one or two stone buildings for that purpose, near where the residence of J. R. Rainie now stands. This enterprise not proving a success, he next turned his attention to the erection of a windmill near the same spot. This also proved unsuccessful, and he subsequently made extensive preparations, and built another mill on a much more expensive scale which stood near his own residence. This one promised to give good satisfaction but was unfortunately destroyed by fire and proved a serious pecuniary loss. In 1825 he with his son-in-law Mr. McKinlay, entered into an arrangement to build a ship, upon which in the early part of 1826 they had made considerable progress, when news came from England of a serious decline in the price of ships. They then ceased work, and about two years subsequently sold out to other parties who completed the vessel. After this unprofitable speculation Mr. Dixon confined his attention quite successfully to his farm until he sold out, and removed with his wife and seven youngest children to Ohio in the year 1837. Mr. Dixon's removal to Ohio was due to the fact, that he and several of his family had recently embraced the views of the people called Mormons, or Latter day Saints, and he felt it to be the only safe and proper course for him to pursue. The writer has a vivid recollection of an interview that took place between Mr. Dixon and his brother Edward, at which he earnestly pressed upon his brother's consideration, his recently embraced views, and faithfully exhorted him to follow his example, and warning him of the folly and danger of remaining in a country so soon to be destroyed as he believed.

<sup>2</sup> Mr. Dixon and family left Sackville on the first day of September, 1837, and traveled in a number of covered wagons, arriving at Kirtland, Ohio, the place of their destination, on the 14th of October, where he purchased a property and settled his family. The year following in the autumn, he, with his daughter Jane and youngest son, started for Missouri. Soon after they had crossed the Missouri River they met large numbers of the Mormon people, who were being driven out of that State by force, most of whom were in a most destitute condition. They returned with these people to Quincy, Ill., where Mr. Dixon hired a house and remained for the winter, and liberally used his means in entertaining and relieving the necessities of these poor suffering, destitute brethren. The following spring he returned to Ohio, where he pursued with his usual diligence and industry his occupation of farming, until the spring of 1854. When he had entered upon his 89th year, and had become nearly blind, he and his wife, with some of the family, left Ohio for Salt Lake City. They arrived at Rock Island and halted for a few days, while their party were fitting up and getting their teams ready for the journey across the plains. Here, Mr. Dixon, on account of his blindness, fell from the steps of a hotel and sustained injuries which proved fatal, and his death occurred on the 22d day of May. He was buried at Davenport, Iowa. # GENEALOGY OF SUSANNAH DIXON AND HER HUSBAND GEORGE BULMER.

CHAPTER IV.

<sup>2</sup>SUSANNAH DIXON, the second daughter of Charles and Susannah Coates Dixon, married George Bulmer, in the year 1784. Mr. Bulmer, as previously stated, came when a lad of 12 years of age from England in the same ship with Mr. Dixon and his family, and a few years subsequently, his mother and several of her sons came out and settled near Amherst, where some of their descendants still remain. The Bulmer family is said to be of Norman descent. Mr. George Bulmer purchased a large lot of land adjoining the farm of his father-in-law, which he industriously improved and cultivated for many years, until he became somewhat deranged, and this affliction having assumed a somewhat alarming aspect it was deemed necessary in the interests of his family to invoke the action of the Court of Chancery; and a decree was obtained by which the property was placed in the hands of Commissioners, who should control the same for the maintenance of Mr. and Mrs. Bulmer and in the interest of the family. Mr. and Mrs. Bulmer both survived for many years after the above action was taken. Mrs. Bulmer died in 1835 aged 67 years, and Mr. Bulmer in 1841 aged 82 years.

The author has not been able to obtain access to the family register of George and Susanna Dixon Bulmer, or to any data showing the exact date of their marriage or the births of their children, but from the circumstances that have come to his knowledge he believes the following to be correct:

Jane, born in 1785.	Charles, born in 1787.
James B., born in 1789.	Mary, born in 1791.
John, born in 1793.	George, born in 1795.
Ann, born in 1797.	Elizabeth, born in 1799.
Isabel, born in 1801.	Edward, born in 1803.
H. Nelson, born in 1807.	William, born in 1809.
Ruth, born in 1811.

<sup>3</sup> Jane, the eldest daughter of George and Susanna Dixon Bulmer, married William Smith, a farmer. This marriage took place about 1805. They settled at Maccan, N. S. Mr. Smith was a local preacher among the Methodists. He was a very large, robust person, and owing to some accident he was obliged to have one of his limbs amputated just below the knee, and the author remembers seeing him wearing an immense wooden leg. The family of William Smith and Jane Bulmer were named Elizabeth, George, Henry, Susan, Ann, Mary and John Nelson. Mrs. Smith died about the year 1830. Mr. Smith married a Miss Harrison, and the time of his death is unknown. He had some family by his second wife.

<sup>4</sup> Elisabeth, eldest daughter of William and Jane Bulmer Smith, married Samuel Horton about the year 1834. Mr. Horton was a mechanic, a diligent industrious man, a native of Sackville, where he resided until the end of life. They both became members of the Methodist church in 1836 and remained to the end in that connection. They had children named Henry, Elizabeth, Amanda, Charlotte and George, all of whom except the last named died unmarried of consumption. Mr. Horton died in 1873 aged 68 years, and Mrs. Horton died in 1882, aged 77.

<sup>5</sup> George, the youngest son of Samuel and Elizabeth Smith Horton, married Annie Crossman, daughter of Mr. Samuel Crossman of Fairfield. They resided at Fairfield and had children named Emma and Annie May. Mr. Horton died of consumption also in the year 1879 aged 30.

seven children and the others two children each, and one grand child each.

<sup>5</sup> Ella Jane, youngest daughter of John and Ann Smith Atkinson, married Thomas Stewart in 1877. They had children named Laura May, Moreton and Irene. Mrs. Stewart died in 1885, and shortly after her death Mr. Stewart and the eldest daughter died.

<sup>4</sup> Mary, fourth daughter of William and Jane Bulmer Smith, married Nathan Boss in 1841. They have family named Sarah Elizabeth, Ruth, Augusta, Susan Jane, Henry Smith and James Tweedy, who are, most of them married and have families, said to number twelve children and several grand children.

<sup>4</sup> John N., youngest son of William and Jane Bulmer Smith, married Elizabeth Harrison about the year 1846. They have children named William A., Alice A., Caroline A., Thomas H., Adelaide B., Charles A., James E., Leonard J., •Walter R. and Harvey N. Of the above named, <sup>5</sup> William A. is married and has three children, <sup>5</sup> Alice A. is married and has seven children, <sup>5</sup> Carolin A. is married and has seven children, <sup>5</sup> Thomas H. is married and has three children, and <sup>5</sup> James E. is married and has two children.

The foregoing comprises all the information the writer was able to obtain relating to the posterity of Jane Bulmer and her husband, William Smith, and its imperfection and incompleteness is much regretted.

<sup>3</sup> Charles D., eldest son of George and Susanna Dixon Bulmer, married Elizabeth Oulton of Westmoreland, in the year 1809. They settled at Sackville upon a piece of land which his grandfather, Charles Dixon, gave him as his namesake. Mr. Bulmer was an industrious and enterprising man and soon turned the wilderness into fruitful fields. He was not only a good farmer, but he turned his attention after a time to lumbering and milling with some success. Their family consisted of Jane Oulton, Charles Dixon, George Nelson, Rufus Smith, Matilda, Charity, Edwin Oulton, Abigail and William Crane. Mr. Bulmer died in 1864, aged 77 years, and his wife died in 1870, aged 83 years.

a seafaring man shortly after his marriage, and in a little time a ship master in the coasting trade, an occupation he followed the greater part of his life, and in which he unfortunately lost his life. The vessel he commanded being wrecked by being driven ashore at St. John Cape, when he and a young lad were drowned. This event occurred the 8th of July, 1870. Mr. Anderson was about 60 years of age. His widow is still living and residing in Sackville, N. B. Their family consisted of George, Ammi, Charles Marshall, Thomas Reece, Gaius, and an adopted daughter named Sarah.

<sup>5</sup> George, eldest son of Titus and Jane O. Bulmer Anderson married Arabella Ayr, son of Jesse Ayr. They resided at Sackville, and their family consisted of Rupert T., Ernest L., Jesse E., Carrie Bell and one who died in infancy. Mr. Anderson, or as he was generally called Captain George, early in life became engaged in the sea-faring and coasting business which he followed with success. He then became engaged in shipbuilding in company with his brother Ammi, which he followed for a few years. His death occurred in March 1872. Mrs. Anderson died in March 1879.

son, was an excellent mechanic, and followed his occupation pretty closely for many years. He was also at one time engaged in shipbuilding and ship owning with his brother George as previously stated. He married Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Charles D. Bulmer, and their family consisted of two children both of whom died in childhood. Mr. Anderson died very suddenly in February 1885, aged 52. His widow survived until February 1891 when she also died.

<sup>5</sup> Charles Marshall, third son of Titus and Jane O. Bulmer Anderson, also became a seafaring man and shipmaster which he successfully followed for a number of years. He first married Mary E. Wry, daughter of Isaac Wry, of Sackville. She died in 1868, leaving her husband with a little daughter named Mary E. One other died in infancy. Mr. Anderson married again in 1873, Miss Bertha Dixon, daughter of John W. Dixon, of Dorchester, N. B., where he resided for a time and subsequently removed to New Zealand, as stated in a previous chapter.

<sup>5</sup> Thomas Reese, fourth son of Titus and Jane O. Bulmer Anderson, is also a shipmaster and stands high in his profession. He married Miss Ruth Eliza Cole, who accompanied her husband on a sea voyage and died on shipboard in November, 1864. Captain Thomas has not married a second time, and resides at Sackville with his mother when not absent on sea voyages.

<sup>5</sup> Gaius youngest son of Titus and Jane O. Bulmer Anderson, married Emma A., daughter of Robert Keillor, Esq., of Amherst, N. S., in 1865, and shortly afterwards removed to Fiji, where they still reside, engaged in agricultural pursuits.

They have children named Emma Ruth, Lucy Ann, Robert Gaius and Minnie Alice.

<sup>2</sup>ELIZABETH DIXON, third daughter of Charles and Susanah Coates Dixon, was married to Dr. Rufus Smith in the year 1789. They settled at Westmoreland Point, near Fort Cumberland, at that time a centre of wealth and influence. Dr. Smith's medical practice soon attained large proportions, extending over the counties of Cumberland and Westmoreland. He belonged to one of the Loyalist families, and inherited a vigorous constitution. It is said of him that he never failed to respond promptly to the call of a patient whatever difficulties or dangers had to be encountered and overcome in the attempt to reach the patient's home. He was a kind and obliging man, ever ready to assist a neighbor or anyone who needed assistance. He represented Westmoreland county in the Assembly from 1816 to 1827, and again from 1830 to 1834. He continued the practice of his profession until within a brief period of his death, which occurred in the year 1844 in the seventy-eighth year of his age. The family of Elizabeth Dixon and her husband, Dr. Rufus Smith, consisted of

Fanny,	Born, 1790	Polly,	Born, 1792

<sup>2</sup> RUTH DIXON, fourth daughter of Charles and Susannah Coates Dixon, married Thomas Roach in the year 1793. Mr. and Mrs. Roach settled at Fort Lawrence where Mr. Roach owned a large and valuable property. He was also engaged in Merchandise and subsequently in shipbuilding. Mr. Roach was elected to the Provincial Parliament in 1799 and occupied a seat in that body until 1826, having been elected five times in succession. Mr. Roach was a Methodist Local Preacher of more than ordinary ability and a liberal supporter of Methodist and benevolent institutions. The family of Thomas and Ruth Dixon Roach consisted of the following, viz:

John,	Born, 1794	Susannah D.,	Born, 1795
Jean,	" 1797	Charles D.,	" 1800
Mary,	" 1802	Thomas,	" 1805
Edward,	" 1807

Mrs. Roach died in March-1810, in the 38th year of her age. In a memoir of her, written by her husband, it is stated that about one week previous to her death she was taken ill and complained of a severe pain in her side, and that medical aid was not obtained for about three days. When her brother-in-law, Dr. Rufus Smith, was called, who bled her on the occasion of his first visit, which was on Sunday and again on Monday, and again on Tuesday, and that Mrs. Roach died the following Thursday. Doubtless the medical treatment she received would be very unfavorably regarded at the present day, yet there is no room to doubt that Dr. Smith did all in his power to arrest the progress of the disease and save the life of one so greatly beloved and esteemed, with whom he and his family were so nearly connected. Mr. Roach says of her that she was a devoted Christian woman and died in the faith of the Gospel.

Mr. Roach was subsequently married, first, to a widow lady, Mrs. Sarah Allan, and after her death, to a Miss Mary Dickson of Onslow, N. S., and after her decease to a Miss Charlotte Wells, who survived him several years. None of the three last wives left children. Mr. Roach died in 1833, aged 65 years.

<sup>3</sup> John, eldest son of Thomas and Ruth Dixon Roach, married Miss Sarah A. Dixon, of Onslow, in January 1824. They resided at Meccan, where he owned a large and valuable farm. Mr. Roach was a man of strict integrity, a zealous and devoted member and liberal supporter of the Methodist Church, and a highly respected member of the community in which he lived. The family of John and Sarah A. Dixon Roach, consisted of five sons and two daughters named L. Dickson, Ruth R., Thomas, Robert D., Edward DeWolfe, John E., and James T. J., who died in childhood. Mr. Roach died in the year 1862, aged 67 years, and Mrs. Roach survived her husband about five years.

N. S. Their family consisted of six daughters and three sons, named Eliza, Florence, Laura, Fanny, Hibbard, Louis, Roland, Josephine and Susan C. Mrs. Blair died in 1885 aged 60 years.

Mrs. Roach died in 1880, and Mr. Roach afterward married Miss Sarah Harrison, of Meccan. They have children named Sophia, Bessie and Lavinia. Mr. Roach is an active and leading man in the community where he resides.

The account of the family of John Roach here closes.

<sup>3</sup> Susan D., eldest daughter of Thomas and Ruth Dixon Roach, married William Crane in 1813. William Crane was a son of Colonel Crane, of Horton, N. S., and at the time of his marriage had been in business at Sackville several years.

Mr. Crane was a very active, enterprising man, possessing a remarkable capacity for business, and his business grew so rapidly that he was obliged to seek assistance, and he induced Charles F. Allison, who was then a clerk for Mr. Ratchford at Parrsboro, to become his partner, and soon afterward Joseph F. Allison was employed as a clerk and subsequently became partner also; and the firm of Crane & Allison was known as among the most substantial business houses in the Provinces. In the year 1840, Charles F. Allison retired from the firm and devoted his time and a large portion of his fortune to the erection of the Mount Allison Wesleyan Academy. A few years later, Joseph F. Allison also retired from the firm. Mr. Crane continued in business until his death. Mr. Crane early became interested in politics, and in 1824 was elected to the Assembly to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Benjamin Wilson, one of the representatives of the county of Westmoreland. Mr. Crane represented the county continuously from 1824 to 1842, when he was appointed to a seat in the Legislative Council, which he held until 1850, when he was again elected to the Assembly, and was a second time elected speaker of that body. Mr. Crane was on two occasions a delegate to the English Government to arrange the settlement of several important matters affecting the interests of the Province, and received the unanimous thanks of the Legislature for the great ability he displayed in the discharge of the important duties entrusted to him. The family of William and Susan D. Roach Crane consisted of one daughter named Ruth. Mrs. Crane died in 1830, deeply regretted by all who knew her. Several years later Mr. Crane married Miss Eliza Wood, and they had a family of four daughters and a son.

Mr. Crane was severely afflicted with rheumatism for a number of years, and subject to great physical suffering, which he endured with remarkable patience and fortitude. He died at Fredericton, N. B. while attending to his Legislative duties, on the 31st of March, 1853, in the 69th year of his age.

<sup>4</sup> Ruth, only daughter of William and Susannah D. Roach Crane, married Edward Cogswell, formerly of Horton, N. S., but who for several years previous to his marriage, was chief business clerk for Mr. Crane. The marriage took place in 1850. ## GENEALOGY OF MARTHA DIXON AND BENJAMIN WILSON.

CHAPTER VII.

<sup>2</sup>MARTHA, youngest daughter of Charles and Susanna Coates Dixon, married the Rev. Benjamin Wilson in 1793. Mr. Wilson was a native of Virginia, and appointed by one of the American Conferences, at the request of Bishop Black, to labor in the Provinces. He came to the Cumberland Circuit early in the year 1793. In 1795 he was sent to St. John. He occupied several other circuits in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, remaining in the work of the ministry about ten years, when he decided to locate. His father-in-law, Mr. Dixon, supplied him with the capital to commence merchandise at Dorchester, and a short time after permitted his son William C., to enter as a partner into the business, which was conducted until about 1820 in the name of Wilson & Dixon. During the latter part of this partnership term, the firm experienced heavy losses in their lumbering operations, and through the failure, or dishonesty, of an agent in England. Mr. Wilson very soon became a prominent man in the community and in 1820 was elected one of the representatives for Westmoreland County in the Provincial Parliament. Mr. Wilson's death occurred September 20th, 1824. While in the act of crossing the Straits of Northumberland in a small schooner laden with salt, commanded by Capt. Samuel Cornwall, through the inclemency of the weather or other causes, the vessel, cargo and all on board were lost. <sup>2</sup> Mrs. Wilson survived her husband about twenty-five years, and died in 1849, aged 74 years.

GENEALOGY OF EDWARD DIXON AND HIS WIFE MARY SMITH.

CHAPTER VIII.

<sup>2</sup>EDWARD, second son of Charles and Susannah Coates Dixon, resided at Sackville on the homestead farm of his Father. He married Mary Smith, daughter of John Smith, who was a Yorkshire Methodist Local Preacher and lived for a time at Falmouth, N. S., where several of his family (including Mary above named) were baptised by the Rev. Freeborn Garretson. Mr. Smith removed from Falmouth and settled at Parrsboro, where a number of his descendants still remain. His wife was a sister of Thomas Bowser, one of the early Yorkshire settlers of Sackville.

The family of Edward and Mary Smith Dixon, who were married in 1802, bore the following names :

Charles,	Born 1803.	Edwin,	Born 1805.
Elisabeth,	" 1806.	Jane Bamford,	" 1808.
John Edward,	" 1811.	George Smith,	} twins, 1814.
Rufus Smith,	" 1816.	William Coates
James Dunbar,	" 1819.

Another, born in 1810, died in infancy.

Mr. Dixon followed farming with fair success for a number of years. In 1825 he entered into an arrangement with a Mr. Venning to build a ship for the English market. The arrangement was carried into effect the year following. In the mean time the price of ships had fallen off so greatly that the enterprise resulted in heavy financial loss. After this, Mr. Dixon confined his attention to his farm until 1842, when he rented his farm and devoted the greater part of his time to visiting remote and sparsely settled portions of the surrounding country, assisting in holding religious services, distributing books of a religious character, and striving to promote the spiritual welfare of the people. This work he continued until near the close of his life. Mr. Dixon was for over half a century a zealous and consistent member of the Methodist Church, a large portion of which period he held the offices of Trustee, Steward and Leader, in all of which he diligently and faithfully labored to promote the advancement of God's cause. Mrs. Dixon was also a deeply pious and devoted member of the same church for an equal period of time. She died in the year 1854, aged 74 years. Mr. Dixon survived his wife about seven years and died in 1861, aged 85 years, nearly.

3 Charles, eldest son of Edward and Mary Smith Dixon, when a young man evinced a decided predilection for a mechanical occupation in preference to farming, and chose a carpenter's trade, in which, without serving any apprenticeship, he became a proficient in a short time. He married Miss Sarah Boultenhouse in the year 1827. Shortly after his marriage he removed to Windsor, N. S., where he followed his occupation until 1831, when he returned to Sackville where he resided the remainder of his life. He was an excellent mechanic and was both architect and builder of many of the best buildings erected in Sackville during his time. In 1850 he engaged in ship building, which he followed about seven years, which did not prove a financial success. He was an active and prominent man in the community, a leading magistrate, a zealous promoter of the cause of temperance, and filled the positions of Trustee, Leader and Local Preacher in the Methodist Church, of which both he and Mrs. Dixon were lifelong and devoted members. Mr. Dixon died in the year 1864, in the 61st year of his age. Mrs. Dixon died in the year 1884, aged 74 years. They resided at Sackville, and their children were named Rufus Dixon, Annie M., David, William Henry, and Mary Ann, two of whom, <sup>4</sup> Annie M. and <sup>4</sup> David, died in childhood. Capt. David Lyons died at Benin, on the coast of Africa, of fever, on the 22d of October, 1865, aged 57 years, and Mrs. Jane B. Lyons died at Sackville January 1st, 1881, aged 72 years.

<sup>4</sup> Rufus D., eldest son of Capt. David and Jane B. Dixon Lyons, was also a shipmaster and excelled in his profession. He married Miss Emily Miles, of London, England, in 1855. They had one daughter named Emily. Mrs. Lyons died in 1865, aged 32 years. Capt. R. D. Lyons married for a second wife Miss Janet Thomson, of Liverpool, in 1870. They had two children named Rufus and Henry. Capt. Lyons died at Iquique in the year 1873. After her husband's death, Mrs. Lyons removed with her family to Beechworth, Victoria, Australia, where she died in September, 1885. Her son Rufus died in childhood.

<sup>4</sup> William Henry, youngest son of Captain David and Jane B. Dixon Lyons, is also a shipmaster standing high in his profession, and has for many years been in command of large steamships plying between European and South American ports. He married Miss Mary Thomson, of Liverpool, in 1873. Their home is in England. They have children named Jane, Henry, William Rufus, Richard Sackville, Mary Edith, George Herbert, Ernest Thomson and Howard Maitland, one of whom (Richard Sackville) died in infancy.

<sup>4</sup> Mary Ann, youngest daughter of Captain David and Jane B. Dixon Lyons, was never married. She acquired an education and obtained a first-class Teachers' license and taught school twenty years at Sackville. She was a successful teacher and an earnest and zealous christian worker. She was stricken down with paralysis while engaged in conducting a "Band of Hope" meeting in August, 1885. She lingered until 1887, when she died at the age of 46 years.

The account of the family of Jane B. Dixon and her husband David Lyons here closes.

3 John E., third son of Edward and Mary Smith Dixon, left the home of his youth in the spring of 1833, to seek his fortune in the United States, and settled in Ohio where he remained several years. He turned his attention to mechanical pursuits and soon became an excellent carpenter and builder. He married Miss Thirza Dille, of Euclid, Ohio. They had two daughters named Amelia C. and Evangelia, and two sons named Edward and John-Forrest, who died in childhood. Mrs. Dixon died in 1849, aged 32 years. In 1850 Mr. Dixon married Miss Mary Ann Wolf. They had one daughter named Mary who died in childhood. They resided at Marine City and also at Detroit, where Mr. Dixon was engaged in ship building. The ship building business proving unprofitable, Mr. Dixon removed with his family to the country in 1860 and applied himself to farming. In 1864 he was employed to go to Alabama to work at the finishing of some gunboats for the United States Government, and soon after was taken ill and died on the 19th of June of that year, aged 52 years. Within a few years after his arrival in Ohio he became a member of the "Disciples of Christ," and occasionally exercised his talents in preaching and holding meetings in connection with that people. His widow survived him many years and died in the year 1887, aged 78 years.

<sup>4</sup> Amelia C., eldest daughter of John E. and Thirza Dille Dixon, married Andrew Little, in September, 1865. They resided at Ionia, Michigan, and their children were named Mary Catherine, Flora Evangelia, James Edward, Lora Dixon and Forest Andrew. The two first named died in childhood, and <sup>5</sup> Lora, the third named, died in 1890, aged 19 years. Mrs. Little died in 1875, aged 33 years. Mr. Little and his two sons still survive.

<sup>5</sup> Bertha Lucile, eldest daughter of Ambrose and Evangelia Dixon Smith, married Rosalvo A. Grover in 1889. They reside at Woodward Lake, Michigan, and have a daughter named Mildred Evangelia. Mr. Grover is an Engineer, but at present engaged in farming.

The account of the family of John E. Dixon here closes.

<sup>8</sup> George Smith, fourth son of Edward and Mary Smith Dixon, was accidentally killed by being thrown from a horse. The sad event occurred in August 1824 in the eleventh year of his age.

<sup>8</sup> William Coates, twin brother of George Smith, served an apprenticeship with his brother-in-law, James Chubbuck, at Windsor, Nova Scotia. When his apprenticeship closed he returned to Sackville, where he followed his occupation some years. In the year 1841 he married Miss Mary

J. Trueman, third daughter of Thomas Trueman, of Point DeBute. They resided at Sackville until the death of Mrs. Dixon in 1844, who left no issue. Shortly after the death of his wife, Mr. Dixon visited his brother, John E., at Detroit, Michigan, and subsequently became associated with him in ship-building. In 1848 he married Miss Harriet E. Arnold, a native of London, England. They resided at Detroit and Marine City until 1865, when they removed to and settled on a farm at Maidstone, Essex County, Ontario. Mrs. Dixon's parents and their family had previously settled in the same vicinity. The family of William C. and Harriet E. Arnold Dixon consisted of six sons and five daughters, named George, Harriet-Emma, Mary Jane, Susan, Helen, Charles, William Edwin, Orville Dewey, Eunice Emily, Henry James, and James Rufus, two of whom, George and Orville Dewey, died in childhood and infancy. Mr. Dixon is still active and vigorous, capable of much physical exertion; and has an excellent memory, is a diligent reader, with a decided preference for poetical works, and even employs some of his leisure hours in writing poetic effusions, a talent which only developed itself when its possessor had nearly reached his three score years and ten.

Michigan and follow farming. Their family consists of four children, named William, Clara Elinor, Nellie, and George Herbert, who died in childhood.

4 Susan, third daughter of William C. and Harriet E. Arnold Dixon, married Thomas Rush, a native of England. Mr. Rush is Postmaster at Essex Centre, where he resides. The family of Thomas and Susan Dixon Rush consists of Walter Leigh, Harriet, Thomas Dixon, Bernice Ellen, John Edward, Frank Boughton, Mildred Eva, and Elsie Irene. Two of the above named, Walter Leigh and Frank Boughton, died in childhood.

4 Helen, fourth daughter of William C. and Harriet E. Arnold Dixon, married David Ure, farmer, in 1878. They reside at Hurst Settlement, near Maidstone. They have children named William Dixon, Charles Wesley, Eunice Emily, Florence Myrtle, Mary Jane, and Hattie.

4 Charles, eldest surviving son of William C. and Harriet E. Arnold Dixon, married Miss Mary Elizabeth Wright, in 1880. Mr. Dixon is a mechanic and now resides at Salt Lake City, Utah. Their children are named Thomas William, Mary Ann, John, Elizabeth Maud, and another named Ethel Viola, who died in childhood.

4 William Edwin, second son of William C. and Harriet E. Arnold Dixon, married Miss Catharine Wright in 1882. They reside at Maidstone and follow farming, and have children named Henry Warren and Florence.

4 Eunice Emily, fifth daughter of William C. and Harriet E. Arnold Dixon, is a lover of music, and devotes herself to its study, practice and teaching. She resides at Essex Centre with her sister. She married James C. Connelly in 1886, and they have a son named Edwin Dixon. Mr. Connelly has been for some time past in Oregon.

<sup>4</sup> Henry James, third son of William C. and Harriet E. Arnold Dixon, is a watchmaker, and followed that business a number of years at Essex Centre, and afterwards in Montana. He is not married.

<sup>5</sup> James Rufus, youngest son of William C. and Harriet E. Arnold Dixon, is not married and resides at home with his parents. This closes the account of the family of William C. Dixon and his wife Harriet Arnold.

<sup>8</sup> Rufus Smith, sixth son of Edward and Mary Smith Dixon, when young, learned, and for a time followed the shoemaking business. About the year 1842 he became strongly impressed with the conviction that he was called to the ministry. He exercised his gifts as a local preacher for several years and in 1848 joined the East Maine M. E. Conference. In 1849 he married Miss Mary A. Burnham, daughter of William Burnham, formerly of Sackville, N. B. They had children named Frances E. and William R., and one who died in infancy. Mrs. Dixon died of consumption in 1859. In 1862 Mr. Dixon married Miss Emily Baker, a teacher. They had children named James Albert, Effie E., Grace May, and Daisy Ethel. Of the foregoing, <sup>4</sup> James Albert died in 1876, aged 13 years, and <sup>4</sup> Effie E., died in infancy. Mrs. Dixon died suddenly in the year 1882. Mr. Dixon still survives, and resides at Montville, Me. He has for several years sustained a super-numerary relation, but still preaches occasionally.

and mercantile pursuits. They have two sons named Daniel E. and James Dixon.

<sup>4</sup> William R., only son of Rev. Rufus and Mary A. Burnham Dixon, when a young man, went to South Dakota and engaged in stock raising. He married Miss Alma Loomis. They had a son named Charles William and a babe. Mr. Dixon died in 1888, aged 32 years.

The account of the family of Rev. Rufus Dixon here closes.

<sup>3</sup> James D., youngest son of Edward and Mary Smith Dixon, married Miss Eunice Black, second daughter of George M. Black, of Dorchester. They occupied a part of the old Homestead farm of his Father and Grandfather. Mr. Dixon was appointed Collector of Customs in 1855 and held that office until 1882. He was also for several years connected with the Provincial Board of Agriculture, and took an active interest in agricultural affairs and was on several occasions a delegate to select stock for importation. In 1877 he retired from the farm, leaving it in the hands of his sons, and erected a cottage nearer the Village on a small portion of the property of his Grandfather, where he still resides. The family of James D. and Eunice Black Dixon consisted of Mary Emily, Samuel Edgar, Alfred Black, Clementina Clara, Frederic Agtha, and Louise Cardy.

<sup>4</sup> Mary Emily, eldest daughter of James D. and Eunice Black Dixon, married Joseph Archibald in 1867. Mr. Archibald was a native of Truro, N. S., and was then in charge of the office of the Western Union Telegraph Office at Sackville.

After residing at Sackville a few years they removed to St. John, and soon after Mr. Archibald's health failed and he was compelled to give up business and return to Sackville. Mr. Archibald died in 1876. The family of Joseph and Mary E. Dixon Archibald consisted of Frederic A., Herbert Dixon, and Frank Heustis who died in infancy. In 1878 Mrs. Archibald was married to Harmon Humphrey, who owned a large farm in Sackville. They had one daughter named Ella Clementina, who died in 1886, aged five years. Mr. Humphrey died suddenly in July 1887, aged 56 years. Mrs. Humphrey resides with her parents at Sackville.

<sup>5</sup> Frederic A., eldest son of Joseph and Mary E. Dixon Archibald, is not married, and is now in a drug store at Salt Lake City.

<sup>5</sup> Herbert Dixon, second son of Joseph and Mary E. Dixon Archibald, is a telegraph operator, and has charge of the Canada Pacific Telegraph Office at Sackville.

<sup>4</sup> Samuel Edgar, eldest son of James and Eunice Black Dixon, is a farmer residing at Sackville. He married Miss Emma Carter, daughter of Joseph Carter of Point De Bute, in 1870. They have a family of three sons, named Walter Irving, James Leaman and Clarence Edgar.

<sup>4</sup> Alfred Black, second son of James D. and Eunice Black Dixon, married Miss Florence Freeman in 1878, youngest daughter of Samuel Freeman of Amherst. They resided in Sackville, and followed farming, and have children named Leonard Freeman, Ernest, Clementina, and Herbert Jackson. Mr. Dixon and family have recently removed to British Columbia.

4 Clementina C., second daughter of James D. and Eunice Black Dixon, died in 1875, aged twenty years.

4 Frederic Agtha, youngest son of James D. and Eunice Black Dixon, is a graduate of Mount Allison College. He married Miss Maggie J. Patterson, daughter of James Patterson, of Sackville. They have no family except an adopted child named Gladys. Mr. Dixon is farming on a portion of the old homestead of his ancestors.

4 Louise Cardy, youngest daughter of James D. and Eunice Black Dixon, married Rev. William Arthur Black, (eldest son of Rev. A. B. Black, of Amherst, N.S.) in the year 1881. Mr. Black is a graduate of Mount Allison College, and a Minister and Presiding Elder in the Northwest Iowa Conference of the M. E. Church, and resides at Algona. They have one daughter named Ella Louise, another named Emma died in infancy.

This closes the account of the family of James Dixon and Eunice Black.

CHAPTER IX.

<sup>2</sup> WILLIAM COATES, youngest son of Charles and Susanah Coates Dixon, after attaining his majority, continued to assist his Father and Brother Edward in the management of the farm until the year 1808, when he entered into partnership with his brother-in-law Benjamin Wilson at Dorchester, where they conducted a mercantile business. They were also engaged in lumbering operations, and during a portion of this partnership period, Mr. Dixon resided at Shediak, where in the year 1820 he married Miss Matilda Beckwith, daughter of John Steadman Beckwith, Esq. Soon after his marriage the partnership business terminated and Mr. Dixon and family returned to Sackville and settled on his farm where they remained until the year 1827. Then they sold the farm to Mr. Crane and returned to Shediak where they kept a hotel for a few years, and then removed to, and settled upon a farm at Buctouche, where they resided until death. The family of <sup>2</sup> William Coates and Matilda Beckwith Dixon consisted of three sons and three daughters named as follows:

Horatio Edward, born July 25, 1821.

Mary A., born December 9, 1822.

Lavinia Caroline, born August 11, 1826.

Caroline Lavinia, born September 8, 1830.

John Steadman, born October 7, 1833.

William James, born May 27, 1836.

One of the above named (Lavinia Caroline) died in infancy.

<sup>2</sup> Mr. Dixon, who was quite blind for several years previous, died in 1865 in the 87th year of his age. Mrs. Dixon's death occurred quite suddenly within a few days after that of her husband, at the age of 64 years. They were life-long attendants upon the services of the Methodist Church; and services were frequently held at their house, which was ever a home for the Ministers of the Gospel. As they lived, so also they died in the faith of the Gospel.

<sup>3</sup> Horatio Edward, eldest son of William Coates and Matilda Beckwith Dixon, was in early life engaged in a variety of pursuits, including farming, piloting and seafaring. In 1853 he married Miss Charlotte Pollard, of P. E. Island. They resided at Buctouche. Mrs. Dixon died in 1855, leaving no issue. Mr. Dixon, soon after the death of his wife, went to sea and was absent on long voyages for a number of years. In 1865 he married Miss Elisabeth Grannell and settled again upon his farm at Buctouche where he still resides. They have no family.

<sup>3</sup> John Steadman, second son of William Coates and Matilda Beckwith Dixon, married Miss Elizabeth Buckersfield, daughter of an English Barrister, who came to New Brunswick about 1840, and resided for a time at Point De Bute, and finally settled on Prince Edward Island, where he died recently at an advanced age.

<sup>3</sup> William James, youngest son of William Coates and Matilda Beckwith Dixon, married Miss Jane Craig, of P. E. Island. They resided at Buctouche and had children named Walter L. and Ella. Ella died in childhood. After the death of their child, Mr. Dixon sold out and removed to St. Stephen, and subsequently to Calais, Me. Mrs. Dixon died in September 1890. Mr. Dixon still survives.

IT will be observed by all who read the foregoing pages, that the descendants of Charles and Susannah Dixon are very widely scattered. They are to be found in almost every Province of Canada and in very many of the States of the Union; in Japan, New Zealand, Australia, and some have found homes in Old England near the birthplace of their ancestors. They are also to be found filling every sphere of honest industry, and holding positions of more or less prominence in the learned professions. While a considerable portion of them have become members or adherents of other churches and religious bodies, the larger portion, it is believed, are to be found among the adherents of Methodism, the church of their ancestors. The writer recently enjoyed the unusual privilege of being present at a family gathering in Utah, at which all the surviving generations, (five in number,) were represented. A circumstance which enables him to state that he has seen some of each of the seven generations, included in the preceding tables.
